Children's Bake Off and Parental Help

Whilst we understand that younger children will need a little help with their baking creations this should be kept to a minimum, and should just be assisting, teaching and help with physical tasks that their size may make difficult for them. Help in the following areas is acceptable:

- Oven and heat work
- Removing items and placing on wire racks carefully
- Using an electric mixer
- Help holding, steadying or lifting heavy items
- Help with understanding scales and weighing

We fully expect your child to:

- Handle all the cake-making ingredients predominantly by themselves, with perhaps a little help
- Spoon cake mixtures into the tins/cupcake cases themselves – even if some slops out of the sides!
- Help holding the bowl /tins for them is acceptable
- Decorate the cakes entirely by themselves. We consider that no help whatsoever should be given with the decoration of any bake aside from making the batch of icing

Your child's bakes will NOT be judged down if it is not absolutely perfect, such as a little too much baking powder or perhaps not quite enough cocoa powder!

- Allow your children to make their own creations even if they're not perfect.
- The judges will be looking for the expression of a child's creativity and imagination, so let them let rip in your kitchen!

Don't forget to make them wash up!!

GOOD LUCK!
